

SCHOOL OF ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN

Lectures and Exhibits

1 9 9 7 - 1 9 9 8

Lectures

Tomás O'Leary

September 24, 1997

Forest Landscapes, Planning and Design: A European Approach

Tomás O'Leary, ERM, Senior Research Scientist in the Department of Forestry at University College Dublin, is promoting a trans-European research project to develop detailed design guidelines for Europe's forests.

Dean John F. Crowley AICP, ASLA

September 30, 1997

The New National Transportation Act & City Design Draper Lecture

Marianne Cramer Art, Nature and Politics in Central Park, NY

October 15, 1997

1997-98 Center for the Humanities and Arts Visiting Artist

Marianne Cramer, Central Park Planner with the Central Park Conservancy, is guiding the restoration and rehabilitation of Central Park. She is co-author of Rebuilding Central Park: A Management and Restoration Plan (1987).

Charlie Aguar A New Interpretation

October 22, 1997

Charlie Aguar, ASLA, School of Environmental Design Professor Emeritus, has studied Frank Lloyd Wright's organic architecture philosophy in relation to the nature of the site. The two-volume edition of Wrightscapes is soon to be published.

Dean John F. Crowley AICP, ASLA

January 14, 1998

State of the School of Environmental Design Address

Roger Steffens Bermuda - A Sense of Place

January 22, 1998

Roger Steffens, ASLA, Landscape Architect for the Government of Bermuda, will discuss his experience in this unique locale.

Sam Mockbee Rural Studio

January 28, 1998

Sam Mockbee, FAIA, Professor of Architecture from Auburn University, is an internationally recognized designer, educator, and thinker on affordable organic site design in rural America.

James R. Cothran Gardens of Historic Charleston

February 5, 1998

A University of Georgia alumnus, James Cothran, ASLA, is a principal in the firm of Robert & Co., where he serves as director of planning and landscape architecture. The second printing of Gardens of Historic Charleston (1995) will be available for signing at the reception.

David Lowenthal Heritage and History: Rivals and Partnerships

April 7, 1998

1997-98 Center for the Humanities & Arts Distinguished Lecturer

David Lowenthal is Professor Emeritus of Geography at University College, London. He has published The Past is a Foreign Country (1985) and Possessed by the Past: The Heritage Crusade and the Spoils of History (1996), which examine the past and our current view of what we call history.

James van Sweden Gardening with Nature

Vincent Lecture

May 7, 1998

James Van Sweden, FASLA, and his firm, Oehme van Sweden, have been credited with creating the New American Garden style. He will be available to sign his new book Gardening with Nature (1997).

Exhibits

Jack of All Trades

Sept 15 - Oct 10

Dean John F. Crowley

Wrightscapes: Frank Lloyd Wright as Environmental Designer

Oct 20 - Nov 21

Charlie Aguar

Gardens of Historic Charleston

Jan 12 - Feb 13

James R. Cothran

A Southern Gentleman's Vision of Design: John Linley, AIA

Apr 17 - May 30

The University of Georgia

For more information phone 706-542-8292

Photographs by Dave Spooner