

Alumnus Mario Cambardella named Atlanta's first Urban Agriculture Director

Rose Tahash

October 26, 2015

Congratulations to alumnus Mario Cambardella (MLA '13, MEPD '11, BLA '06)) on his appointment from Kasim Reed as Atlanta, Georgia's first Urban Agriculture Director! His appointment, a first for the City of Atlanta, will support Atlanta's efforts to become a top tier city in the U.S. for sustainability.

In his role, Cambardella will be responsible for a wide range of activities related to urban agriculture, including policy development and facilitating the conversion of brownfields into urban gardens.

Read More: <http://www.atlantaga.gov/index.aspx?page=632&recordid=3972>

